Woman's Club Gives Stretcher

Mrs. Crawford Davidson (above), co-chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee of the Appomattox Woman's Club, recently made a presentation of an orthopedic stretcher to the Appomattox County Rescue Squad. Bill Sperry, 1st Lieutenant, accepted the gift. The Davidson's daughter, Shelly, is looking on. Lt. Sperry explained that the stretcher above is an older model of the type given by the Club, and is used in the second ambulance. The newer type (given by the club) has snap connectors. The newer one was in use at the time of the photo during one of fifteen or twenty emergency calls during the past four days. The Woman's Club has also given arm and leg splints, a ring cutter, and there's a resuscitator from the club "on the ready" and ready for the Squad's new vehicle when it arrives. Proceeds from a card party paid for the stretcher, splints and ring cutter. According to Squad members, the orthopedic stretcher is one of the most frequently used pieces of equipment.

COUNTY IS 'ON THE WAY' IN FUND DRIVE

Dr. J. A. Mathews, head of a county-wide drive to raise $3,-000 for a calibrating machine for the Cent. Va. Speech and Hearing Clinic, says that donations are coming in nicely for the project. However, there's still much progress to be made toward that $3,000 goal.

Donors so far include individuals giving both for the calibrating machine and for speech and hearing "scholarships" to aid needy youth and adults. Also, civic clubs, church circles and service groups have given to the cause. There's an auction coming up (Oakville Ruritans) to aid the project, and other clubs have promised to help. Anyone interested is invited to contact Mr. Mathews, county chairman, or Mr. David Jaffe, executive director, Cent. Va. Speech and Hearing Clinic, Va. Baptist Hospital, Lynchburg, Va.

Three Road Projects Approved

Three Appomattox county road projects were among those given tentative approval Thurs., April 29, by the State Highway Commission. The Commission tentatively approved $11,309,-298 of construction allocations for work on regular primary and interstate roads in the Lynchburg District.

The largest tentative allocations for arterial network projects are to continue the dual-laning of Rts. 29 and 460.

Included are;

Rt. 460 in Appomattox and Prince Edward counties – $2,-000,000 supplemental allocation to continue dual-laning east of Appomattox.

Regular primary projects in the district include Rt. 46 in Appomattox County – $50,000 in partial allocation for underpass and approaches N & W railroad in Pamplin City.

Rt. 131 in Appomattox County – $20,000 supplemental allocation for cooperative project with town of Appomattox for curb and gutter, widening between West intersection of Rt. 460 and Rt. T-691.

The $11,309,298 tentative allocation for the Lynchburg district is a part of the $223.1 million tentatively approved for Virginia's interstate, arterial, regular primary and urban road systems.

The funds are for the budget year beginning July 1. They total $18.6 million more than the sum for the current year, chiefly because of an increased federal allotment for the interstate system and because traffic increases are expected to provide higher amounts in state road user taxes.

The Lynchburg district has very little interstate roadway which means its overall allocation is less than that of most districts in the state. On the other hand, its arterial road

Okays By-Pass

The location of a 460 bypass that forms an arc around the northern limits of Appomattox was approved Thursday by the State Highway Commission at an estimated cost of $4.5 million.

Plans for the proposed bypass were first discussed at a public hearing in 1965. However, the initial plans were altered and a second public hearing was held in June, 1970, when two possible routes were considered.

Plan "B" was considered the most economical and was the one adopted by the commission with certain modifications. The route selected by the commission at its meeting at Natural Bridge is further west and north of Appomattox than was Plan "A".

Plan "A" would have had an interchange on its western end to serve the traffic on Rts. 131, 24 and 460. State Rt. 26 would have been relocated west of the interchange and interchanges would also have been constructed at the intersection with State Rt. 631 and at the eastern terminus of the bypass. This plan would have cost an estimated $4,625,000 for 2.27 miles of roadway.

Plan "B" begins further west than Plan "A" and will be further north. As originally planned, "B" would have separated Rt. 26 cut Rt. 1011 and would have had complete interchanges at Rt. 24 and at the eastern terminus of the bypass. This plan would have cost an estimated $4,507,300 for 3.2 miles of roadway.

The modifications adopted to Plan "B" include relocation of the western end of the project closer to the town limits and bringing the arc closer to the town. There will be a complete interchange at Rt. 26 and a partial interchange at Rt. 24.

The bypass will be a limited access facility.

Resolutions endorsing Plan "B" with modification were received by the Highway Department from Appomattox Town Council, the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors and the county planning commission.

All Incumbents Return To Council

Corp. Elects Smith President

James A. Smith was reelected president of the Appomattox County Development Corporation during the annual meeting held Wednesday night, April 28 at the Court House.

Other officers and board members remain the same as last year, the organization year for the corporation.

In his annual report, president J. A. Smith termed the board of directors a "dedicated group" which readily accepted assignments and had given freely of their time to the goal of new industry for Appomattox County.

The site committee, said Smith, has selected 12 industrial sites and obtained options on ten. Information on these sites is in the files of five professional Industrial Development representatives: Division of Industrial Development, Va. State Chamber of Commerce, N & W Railroad, Va. Elec. and Power Co. and Southside Elec. Coop. In addition, there were two studies prepared during 1970 about Appomattox County, a Community Study by N & W and an Economic Study by VEPCO, plus an Economic Data Summary for distribution to potential prospects and certain inquiries received by the Appomattox County Chamber of Commerce.

Braford Wins In Livestock

John S. Braford, a member of the Appomattox County FFA Chapter, has won the area Future Farmers of America award for livestock farming. Braford, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Braford, RFD 4, Appomattox.

John has completed nearly twenty agricultural production enterprises. He is currently caring for twenty-one head of livestock and fourteen acres of crops.

His accomplishments will be considered along with those of five other area winners for the state award. Presentation of the state award will be a feature of the State FFA Convention at Blacksburg, June 14-17.

Notice To Motorists

As announced previously by Appomattox Town Council, effective immediately, the cost of overtime parking tickets in the town of Appomattox is $2.00. The cost of other parking violations is $3.00 when paid within 24 hours. A summons will be issued when parking violation tickets are not paid within 24 hours by order of the Town Council.

Smith reported 54 members during the first year of operation. Treas. J. B. Drinkard accepted more than 30 memberships for '71-72 during the annual meeting.

Smith also reported the organization of an Industrial Development Authority, appointed by Appomattox county supervisors, with the purpose of authorizing the sale of Industrial Revenue Bonds for an industry that desires financing by this route.

"The president reported that "we've had approximately 12 (industrial) contacts of one type or another during the year – some which we did not feel were what we were looking for and others required water and sewage services in excess to what is currently available." Headded that "sewage and water are the critical deterrents of industrial development at this time."

Smith termed the efforts to attract industry as a "game of getting prepared, being patient, and maintaining contacts with Industrial Development representatives."

"You can encourage industry," he said, "by helping your associates and employees to have a positive attitude toward new industry -- pay-up, paint-up -- fix-up -- and clean-up your part of the community-- your home -- your business."

Officers, besides the president, include John C. Cole, vice-pres.; J. D. Simpson, secy. J. B. Drinkard, Jr., treas. Other board members include W. E. Jamerson, O. H. Tolley, Jr.; Ivey Holland, H. G. Lawson, J. S. Grinels, Lloyd Vaughan, C. T. Moses, Jr., Richard F. Williams and H. B. Pack.

Ideas Given For Region II Health Program

VPI Extension personnel of Appomattox county plus others attended a meeting Friday at the Appalachian Power Bldg., Lynchburg to discuss a possible consumer health education program for counties comprising Region II, Cent. Va. Planning District.

Main speaker was Dr. Paxton Marshall, extension specialist public policy of VPI, Blacksburg. Dr. Marshall explained that at the request of the Health Services and Mental Health Administration of HEW, the National Assoc. of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges is sponsoring the development of proposals to conduct demonstration consumer health education programs at from two to possibly five locations in the US.

HEW is allocating $500,000 to fund these proposals and Dr. Marshall stressed that if Region II is selected, the activities will be an educational nature. Suggested for his proposal to HEW are such activities as a study of "health outreach clinics", clinics staffed by a nurse, possibly, and equipment for emergency treatment of patients when medical facilities are limited or non-existent. Also, a "Runny Nose" program, designed to teach people how better to prevent or care for colds, flu, allergies, etc. Also, a plan for a training program for young people and
